COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Arrangements have been made so that those using the Community Room may use the kitchen as well as the room at the rear of the main room. This second room has been used for storage. It has been cleaned out, lights repaired, locks placed on doors to storage room and the basement. In checking 20 broken chairs were found and have been repaired and placed into use, now making 46 chairs available.

The Community Room is available to Bethel residents free of charge, other than a fee to the janitor for his services by those that wish to use it. The town does make a charge if anyone uses the Community Room and charges admission or instruction fees for personal gain.

Groups of children must be under supervision of adults. All groups are welcome as long as order is maintained. Any group that is unruly, destructive, or is not properly supervised stands to lose their privilege of using the facilities.

The War Memorial that was ordered last year was delivered and placed on the Common last Saturday. The memorial is made of Vermont granite with a bronze plaque attached, dedicating the memorial to those that served from Bethel in World War I, World War II, and the Korean Conflict. Names of those killed in action or result of action are engraved on the plaque.

A 2½ ton car of calcium chloride arrived and was unloaded on Monday. This will be used for dust control and compaction of material on gravel roads.

Four bituminous materials companies submitted bids for asphalt. The bid of the D. & S. Corporation of Yarmouth, Maine, was accepted, which is 1285 per gallon delivered and applied. This is an increase of 1100 of a cent per gallon over last year.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

THE AMERICAN WAY

By John T. Flynn
(EDITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn is a noted author, lecturer and radio commentator.)

The other day I sat next to a gentleman at a luncheon in New York. He is a fairly prosperous lawyer—and a pretty well-informed man too. He was sounding off about Stalin, Khrushchev, and communism in general. Of course, we found ourselves in complete agreement on all this. Then, a few minutes later, I heard him conversing with another table across the room. He was telling him he had recently returned from a trip through the South. What seemed to impress him greatly was the TVA—the Tennessee Valley Authority—and all the wonderful things it was doing. It evidently did not occur to this lawyer that in defending TVA, he was defending an ingredient of communism—or socialism, which is the same thing—plus the enforcement machinery. He hates communism and everything it stands for. But here he was talking up for a communist or socialist objective—government ownership of power facilities.

Now it is bad enough to note this ignorance about communism and community objectives among certain average, intelligent Americans. But hardly a day goes by that we do not get a statement from a politician, or a teacher, or a preacher, or even a businessman, which reveals his ignorance of the aims, practices, and performances of the communists. These people are leaders of thought and opinion, so their ignorance—or misinformation—is that much more dangerous.

Unwittingly, these ignorant or misinformed leaders do the Reds' dirty work for them. For instance, with all the evidence we now have you would suppose that hardly anyone doubts

HEALTH COUNCIL REPORTS AIMS; ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The Bethel Health Council would like to reacquaint the people of Bethel with the aims and purposes of the Bethel Health and Service Council.

1. To assist, wherever necessary, any type of health, service and safety program in the area.

2. To co-ordinate, as far as possible, the work of all organizations including the town of Bethel, concerned with public health, public welfare and other agencies.

3. To stimulate interest and educate the public in such problems and their solutions.

4. To render individual financial and other assistance in emergency cases as recommended by the finance committee.

5. An emergency fund shall be maintained for the purpose of rendering financial and other assistance in emergency cases as recommended by the finance committee. The intent is to maintain between $1500-$2000 at the beginning of each fiscal year. This income to be secured from fund raising activities.

6. The treasurer shall be instructed with the right of handling the funds for the corporation and shall keep a record of all financial activities.

A brief resume of the year's activities:

An unsuccessful chicken barbecue was held in August. About 27 families received food baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas. All church organizations participated in soliciting and packing clothing boxes for needy families at Christmas time. Thirty-five families have received clothing since Christmas from the stockpile donated to the Bethel Health Council. Four pairs of shoes have been bought; some dental work has been paid for and approximately 1500 hrs. of labor donated to a burned-out family last fall. This spring many more, clothing and funds were provided for another burned out family. $4300 has been spent over the last ten years paying hospital bills, blankets and other Council activities.

Resume for 1959-60:

Emergency cases, $4300

Locke Mills Citizen Comm. $10500 $700

School and PTA Projects $1816

Lesson Parties $593

Council Parties $714

Holiday Baskets $704

Proposed current project, dental care for school children.

July 23rd the Council is planning an annual Bazaar "Mollusks" Day to augment the funds to carry on the Health Council activities.

The next meeting of the Council will be sometime in June. All meetings are open to the public and all citizens are invited and urged to attend.

that Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba contains many communist ingredients. There is the confiscation of private property, the ukases from the dictator, the mock trials which end in death sentences and long imprisonment, and all the other trappings peculiar to tyrant states. If a communist told you that Castro was simply trying to democratize Cuba, you would give him a loud horse laugh. But last December, the head of the United Presbyterian Church of the United States, Dr. Arthur L. Miller, spent ten days in Cuba. He came back and declared Cuba had a "friendly, relaxed air." He evidently failed to hear Castro's firing squads. And Dr. Miller thought Castro was making a genuine effort to democratize his country. I don't know what Dr. Miller's definition of "democratize" is, but this statement was hardly out of his mouth when Castro took a leaf out of Stalin's book—and ordered Cubans to spy on each other and report to the police any statements against his government.

Of course, there are cases where his blindness about Red aims and objectives is deliberate. It stems from a conscious or unconscious belief in communist objectives. But in the great majority of cases, it is due to sheer ignorance or confusion. Perhaps this is inevitable, since we have been propagandized for so many years for and against communism. All so much of the propaganda for communist aims has been diametrically clever and subtle.

But we cannot afford to remain either ignorant or misinformed. The freedom and well-being of every American family depends upon a complete understanding of the nature of communism. That is why I was so delighted to see the publication of a short—only 24 pages—pamphlet, which nevertheless is all-encompassing, factual, and engrossing reading. It is called THE NATURE OF THE ENEMY. It is written by Reuben Maurv, the Pulitzer-prize-winning chief editorial writer of the New York Daily News. And the best part about it is that it is written so dramatically, yet so simply, that it can be read by anyone from nine to ninety years of age.

Practically everything you need to know about the communists, their aims and their performances, is in this little pamphlet—how the Reds really came to power in Russia; their promises and how they are, or are not, carried out; the difference, if any, between

Red China and Red Russia; how the Reds run their captive countries; Khrushchev's "peace" aims and what they mean. There is also the story of how the communists carry on the cold war in education and in trade; their spy network; and last but not least—what life would be like in the United States if the Reds took over, either peacefully or by war.

THE NATURE OF THE ENEMY by Reuben Maurv can be obtained from American's Futura, Inc., 542 Main Street, New Rochelle, N. Y., for only 25 cents a copy (five copies for $1.00).

AMONG THE HILLS OF DEAR OLD MAINE

Early Albany

By Eleanor K. Lovejoy

PART TWO

To encourage the settlers to build mills and to keep them going, it was decided at the first meeting of the proprietors if anyone would build a saw mill and grist mill and keep either one going ten years, he should receive a acre of land. If he could keep them both up, he should be given two acres. They were however to be kept in good repair. They were given a year in which to erect a mill. Benj. Procter built at least one and perhaps two, at Lynche's Mills, (now Lynchville), and records show he received land for doing this, so he must have kept the mills going for some time.

Proprietors showed good judgement in building roads and also in preparing to build a schoolhouse where the children could be taught.

The first schoolhouse was a low log structure, and located in Number 4, built in a short time after the settlement was begun. In 1803 or 1804 there was another schoolhouse built at Hunt's Corner. The same house was used for meetings of worship and also for town meetings. Lumber was given by most of the citizens and all the townspeople helped to build it. They were very proud of it. The first teacher of a summer school there got $10, and the school master who taught in the winter got $20. For the term, Early teachers were Uriah Holt, Sarah Holt, Lydia Swift, Eben Hutchinson, Esq., Samuel Haskell, Deacon Jacob Lovejoy and Hepzibah Gould, who later became Deacon Lovejoy's wife. Albany must have been settled quite fast, for in 1825 there were four school districts and 125 scholars between four and twenty years of age. It is interesting to note that 64 of that number attended school.

A Church Society was formed in Albany with 22 members on Sept. 15, 1808 and called the Church of Christ in Albany.

Asa Cummings was the first clerk. The next year they received from Andover, Mass., a Flagon, Tankards, and linen for a Communion Service. The church at Hunt's Corner was erected about 1830. The land was deeded to the Society by Grant Prince, father of Eunice Prince, who married Joseph Lovejoy, son of John, and grandson of Joseph who was one of the first 24 men who came to Albany, to clear the land and start a town in the Maine wilderness. Jacob Lovejoy was very active in this church, and for many years was a deacon. He was also Postmaster at Hunt's Corner and had a grocery store there until old age and poor health made it necessary for him to sell. Many of his records and letters are still in the possession of his nephew, Fred J. Lovejoy who was named for his uncle.

In 1840 the schoolhouse at Hunt's Corner was replaced by a larger one and remodeled in 1885. This building has stood through the years.

Albany always had a good library and as early as 1797 records show that $10 was voted for books and Nathan and Johnathan Abbott, were chosen as a committee to purchase them.

The business center of the town was at Hunt's Corner and the stage line from Portland went through here on the route to Bethel and thence to Lancaster. N. H. Hunt's Corner Tavern was built in 1805. This was built to accommodate travelers and the stage drivers who had to stop over for the night before completing the trip the next day. John Hunt was one of the early tavern keepers, and Hunt's Corner was named for him.

In 1855 a route from Waterford through Albany Basins was tried out. History says that a stage driver on this route got caught in a storm. As the road was not very good and little traveled, he was unable to complete the run to Bethel

MAN'S RECIPE

BLANCHE'S CHOCOLATE CUSTARD

There are three things every person should give himself in this world—insofar as he is able: a top quality bed, a comfortable easy chair, and the best of shoes.

A one-horse, slow-moving, hillside farmer does not pretend to understanding the complicated shenanigans that distinguish our current social order, but it is amazing that so many persons are willing to get along with worn-out beds, second rate chairs and sub-par quality shoes. Just sit down and figure out the years of a normal life that are spent in bed, in a favorite chair, and in shoes.

Here is one of Blanche's originalities that I consider Grade A. Use three cups milk, one square unsweetened chocolate, 20 chocolate bits, one inch stick of cinnamon. Heat these ingredients slowly until very hot and chocolate is melted.

Next, in a glass quart container put three eggs and beat slightly. Add one half cup plus one tablespoon, one fourth teaspoon, one fourth teaspoon salt, one half teaspoon vanilla. Blend.

Pour hot milk mixture into egg mixture, stirring thoroughly. Pour into slightly buttered custard cups or into a large casserole.

Place cups in pan lined with three thicknesses of brown paper. Pour boiling water in pan. Bake at 340 for 30 to 35 minutes until done. Doneness is tested by inserting a silver knife. If knife comes out clean, custard is baked.

Red China and Red Russia; how the Reds run their captive countries; Khrushchev's "peace" aims and what they mean. There is also the story of how the communists carry on the cold war in education and in trade; their spy network; and last but not least—what life would be like in the United States if the Reds took over, either peacefully or by war.

THE NATURE OF THE ENEMY by Reuben Maurv can be obtained from American's Futura, Inc., 542 Main Street, New Rochelle, N. Y., for only 25 cents a copy (five copies for $1.00).

COUNTRY FLAVOR

THE SONG SPARROW

From the time the song sparrow arrives in northern states in late March or early April until late in the summer, this friendly, cheerful bird proves the aptness of its name. Even during June days when most other birds are devoting themselves exclusively to house-keeping duties, the song sparrow perches on a shrub or on a fence post and tosses it distinctive call to a blue-sky day. Thoreau wrote that the music reminded him of "Maidal! Maidal! Maidal! Hang up your teakettle, kettle, kettle!"

Its scientific name is pleasingly musical—a heartening difference from the names of many other popular birds: Meloapia cinerea melodia. The song sparrow is a member of our largest and most important bird family—the Fringillidae, which includes the finches, rosebuds, chickadees, Indigo buntings, and the multitudinous sparrows.

It is a plain, everyday sort of bird that maintains an even, cheery disposition. On hot humid July and August days, when quietness broods on the land, the song sparrow sends its pleasant call across the fields. Nor the lady is incubating her small four to six bluish-white eggs, blotched with deep purple and brown markings.

One of these moist dawns, you may see the song sparrow taking a bath in wet grass, and if you have a bird bath, in a short time, you will likely see the parents bring their young to it and teach them to bathe.

The song sparrow is not an operatic star. It doesn't take an aria and proceed to jazz it around as does the catbird. It does not pretend to carry an intricate melody as does the bluebird or purple Finch. The song sparrow reminds the countryman of some persons of whom it is said, "You can depend upon them to be always the same." It is neither temperamental nor unpredictable. It is good to have the song sparrow around the farmstead. A man can work along at hoeing his sweet corn or thinning his carrots and do it more cheerfully because of the simple, hearty melody that Cinceria Melodia tosses his way through June days.

and nearly froze to death. Needless to say this route was abandoned and they went by the way of Hunt's Corner as long as the stage came through Albany to carry the mail.

Round Mountain Grange was organized in 1875, with 27 charter members. It has been an active Grange and still is holding meetings.

Albany, together with other Oxford County towns responded faithfully to the call for men, and sent its quota of soldiers to the Civil War.

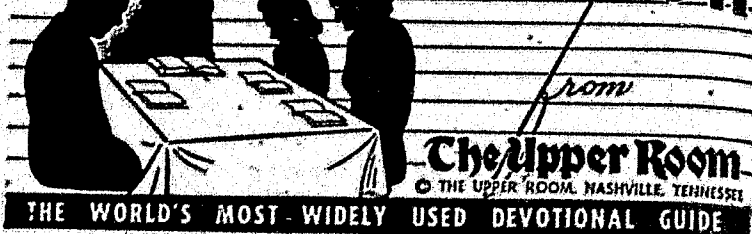

In early days and perhaps one might say all through the years, agriculture and lumbering were the chief industries in the town. The land was fertile but hard to work, except in the valleys. Today there are some good farms still left in Albany, but as nature would have it many of those cleared and settled 168 years ago have returned to woodland and soon much of the land will never yield grain again in our day.

In this day of advanced civilization with all its wonders I often think what some of these men who came to our part of Maine on horseback and with ox teams would say to come back and see our newest jet planes. I expect, some would say it was the work of the man "with horns." The Indians called him "The Evil Spirit."

Many old timers still say "those were the happy days and people lived happier then, than today." Perhaps they are right.

Today within about two miles of where the first camp site was chosen in the wilderness of Albany we find the fine up-to-date pumping station of the Portland Pipe Line with all its modern equipment. The big pumps powered by electricity, are busy pumping oil on its way from Portland to Montreal. Here are lovely little homes for the workmen and their families, surrounded by flowers and pretty lawns as well as land for a garden plot if desired. All are well kept and indeed a credit to all who help to keep the whole place clean and lovely to look at as people pass by. This would no doubt please the old timers if they

TODAY'S Meditation

Thursday, May 19

Read Romans 12:1-8. Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them. (Romans 12:6 RSV.)

Ready to embark on his life-work, a young man asked himself: "Shall I devote my life to a church-related occupation, or shall I seek a career in business?" He loved the church and had been active in its program. He also had qualifications for a successful business career. The conflict of indecision raged within him for many weeks.

One day he went alone to the mountains to pray and ask for guidance. The answer came, as clearly as if the words had been audibly spoken, "Go into the business for which you are fitted. The coming of God's kingdom depends as much upon true Christian laymen as upon preachers, teachers, and other workers in the church." He followed this guidance, and throughout his life there was never a question but that it was God's leading.

He believed that a Christian should put into his work just a little more than is expected. He faithfully continued his church activity and became a leader.

PRAYER: Our Father, help us to place our lives in Thy hands and to follow Thy leading wherever it may take us. Help us to show by our everyday living that we are doing our best to follow the teachings Thou hast given us through Thy Son. In His name we pray. Amen.

Gould Teams Playing Away

There will be no action for Bethel fans this week end as both the track squad and the varsity baseball team will be seeing action away. Coach George Bowhay's pastimers will travel to South Paris Friday for the big game of the season. A win for the Cardinals will practically clinch the pennant while a Gould victory would put them back in contention again. Their only loss has been to South Paris.

Coach Joe Roderick and assistant Bob Scott will be taking their charges to Rumford for the Oxford County Meet. Gould Academy has had a strange hold on county championships, but this year a very strong Stephens High team, which has already beaten them, is favored to win.

On Tuesday, May 24, the Husky ball club will again travel, this time to Mechanic Falls. Gould won the first game and will be trying for a second win.

Maine Ski Council Meeting On Friday, May 13, the Maine Ski Council held a meeting at Colby College, Waterville. Outstanding skiers were guests.

Ann Ordway, a junior at Gould Academy, from Kittery, received the Council award as the outstanding interscholastic girl skier and the Gould Academy boys' varsity squad was awarded a citation as the state's outstanding scholastic team. Paul Kallies's team won the Maine schoolboy title this year and placed second in the New England meet. The award was accepted by team members Sam Appleton and Jay Langley. Three Edward Little skiers were given awards, also: Tom Upham as the outstanding junior boy skier; Sandra Bower, the outstanding junior girl skier; and Bruce Haskell, outstanding interscholastic team skier.

In the following game Kents Hill varsity squad won by a 14 point margin, 17-3. This was Gould's first interscholastic game. Our three runs were made by Lorenda Freeman, Sue Hutchison, and Nancy Lincoln - all in the fourth inning.

In the tennis matches, Gould girls came out on top over Kents Hill, 6-1, winning all their singles, and losing one doubles match. In the singles, Sue Saunders, Betsy Webster,

The engine is Chevy's famous Thriftmaster 61

Chevy hums through Chicago traffic to the tune of 21 miles to the gallon!

Working for Bumper and Auto of Illinois, Inc., ten 1960 Chevrolet pickups battle Chicago traffic day after day. Each truck averages about 2,000 miles a month in this wearing stop-and-start delivery service. Mr. Harry Haller, General Manager of S & H Truck Leasing, who leases the trucks to the bumper firm, reports: "We provide full maintenance on the trucks—gas, oil and everything else—so it pays us to know just where we stand on costs. And our records show that the '60 Chevies are giving us as much as 21 miles per gallon . . . with an average of better than 17 miles per gallon. Mister, these are our kind of trucks!"

Truck owners have good things to say about all Chevy engines. And when they're not talking about Chevrolet performance and economy, they're telling you how great that new Torston-Spring Ride is. How it soaks up road shock and vibration. Protects fragile loads. Lets you run at faster, safe speeds to get more work done in a day. Drive a Torston-Spring Chevy soon. We'll rest our case on that one ride.

LAWS OF CHANCE APPLY TO HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS

"According to the laws of chance, one person will be killed for every 30 many chances that are taken," the Maine Highway Safety Committee observes.

"Everyone recognizes this law of probability," continued the safety group. "The salesman, for example, realizes that the number of his sales will increase as he makes more calls. The baseball player knows that his base hit production will be greater, the more swings he takes."

"By the same token," they added, "the more chances you take while driving or walking, the greater are the possibilities of your becoming involved in an accident. You may get away with it next time, the time following, or several times. However, if you continue to defy the laws of chance, it is inevitable that disaster will catch up with you."

The state safety committee pointed out that every time one is guilty of speeding, passing on a curve or a hill, disregarding traffic lights and regulations, walking on the wrong side of the road, crossing between intersections, etc., he is increasing the possibility that he will become involved in an accident.

"If each one of us will resist the impulse to take these unnecessary chances," concluded the committee, "think of the overall effect. Obviously, our highway traffic accidents would not reach such alarming

The Waterville, N. Y., Times: It is a noticeable fact that the most destructive strikes are by the highest paid unions. They are not so much over wages as they are over fringe benefits and work rules which give unions control over management and operating policies of an industry. Public sympathy used to be with the unions when they were seeking legitimate benefits for their members instead of more and more for less and less. But sympathy will be lacking in the present instance (railroad negotiations).
